DATA PROTECTION POLICY

The Blue Falcons are a privacy conscious organisation and is strongly committed to your right to privacy. That is why we have a Privacy and Data Protection Statement, which follows guidelines set out in the Data Protection Act 1998.

The Data Protection Act 1998. The Data Protection Act 1998 set rules for processing personal information and applies to structured paper records as well as data held on computers. With the Freedom of Information Act 2000 which came into force on 1 January 2005, the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998 will apply to all records, including those structured other than by reference to the data subject and completely unstructured files.

The Data Protection Act states that those who record and process personal information must be open about how the information is used and must follow the eight principles of ‘good information handling’.

HOW DO THE BLUE FALCONS USE AND STORE DATA?

The Data Protection Act states that those who record and process personal information must be open about how the information is used and must follow the eight principles of ‘good information handling’.

These principles state that data must be:

1. Fairly and lawfully processed
2. Processed for limited purposes
3. Adequate, relevant and not excessive
4. Accurate
5. Not kept for longer than is necessary
6. Processed in line with your rights
7. Secure
8. Personal data will not be transferred outside the European Economic Area unless that country provides an adequate level of protection.

By European law, The Blue Falcons, must keep to these principles for all data held about individuals, as of March 2018. (GDPR)

If you believe that The Blue Falcons are not processing your personal data in accordance with these principles, please contact The Blue Falcons Secretary.
